Evolutions in Collecting Art: Practices and Challenges

Collectors are the life blood of the art market. As collecting habits evolve, what practices and challenges do collectors and patrons face in their interactions with artists, galleries and institutions?

This 7th annual RAM conference aims to demystify the collecting journey, unpacking the ethics of collecting contemporary art and the issues which arise in lending to and funding art institutions.

08:30 Registration

09:00 Welcome & opening remarks
Nicholas O'Donnell, Attorney at Law, Boston

09:45 Panel I – Demystifying the Complexities of Art Collecting
To the new or uninitiated, collecting art might appear daunting. From waiting lists to black lists, resale restrictions to buy back proposals. What are these unwritten codes of collecting and do they have a place? How is the role of the collector evolving and can this be a force for change? Just some of the topics our expert speakers will be demystifying in this panel discussion.

Chair Mathilde Heaton, Phillips, London
Piergiorgio Pepe, Ethics of Collecting and Quantum Ethics, Paris
Stefan von Bartha, Gallery von Bartha, Basel
Karim Nouredin, Artist, Lausanne
Martin Wilson, Phillips, London

10:45 Refreshing break

11:30 Panel II – Collectors and Institutions: New Challenges in Philanthropy
Art philanthropy has existed across the ages, but as social norms evolve what new challenges do institutions and philanthropists face when organising, funding and lending to public exhibitions? Are we at the dawn of a new ethics of philanthropy in art?

Chair Anne Laure Bandle, Art Law Foundation, Attorney at Law, Geneva
Adèle Aschehoug, Plateforme 10, Lausanne
Maria de Peverelli, Stonehage Fleming Art Management, London
Amir Shariat, Artist manager and curator, Vienna
Richard Barnett, The National Gallery London, London

12:30 Closing Remarks
